Jen Gumbel is an attorney, legal educator, speaker, and creator of An Organized (after)Life. Jen has spent over a decade walking families through planning their legacy, and is dedicated to equipping people with the information they need to leave a manageable "to-do" list for those they leave behind. She is driven to change the stigma behind planning for death; considering the number of your days isn't morbid - it's wise.

Jen's Expertise

Jen empowers an audience to take control of the legal to-do list they'll leave behind and challenges them to consider their lasting impact. Jen is an expert on:

- estate planning
- financial organization
- momento mori
- legacy and lasting impact
- leadership
- parenting
